EMMANUEL IS ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE IN THE LIBERAL ARTS AND SCIENCES

It is our identity as a Catholic college, universal in scope and inclusive of all.
It is discovery through research, internships and global study.
It is engagement with the diverse city of Boston.
It is community spirit on campus and beyond.
It is a place to bring your all. A place to call your own. A place where you can make a difference and realize your greatest potential.

LEARN ON LOCATION IN A HISTORIC, GLOBAL CITY

Boston is an ideal place to go to college—but it is much more than just a college town. It is a global, culturally rich, sports-crazed and intellectually engaged city, where you will find old and new, tradition mixed with innovation, and centuries of history alongside history in the making.

At Emmanuel College, Boston is a core part of your experience. Students live and learn within a hub of world-class medical and research centers, renowned art and science museums, and countless corporations and organizations that are making their mark locally and internationally.

WELCOME TO THE NEIGHBORHOOD

There’s so much to do in Boston’s Fenway neighborhood, from sharing a conversation at a local coffee shop to catching a Sox game at Fenway, the nation’s oldest ballpark. Whether you’re an athlete or artist, a foodie or fashion lover, you will find plenty to keep you entertained nearby.

COLLEGES OF THE FENWAY

Emmanuel is part of a six-college consortium with Massachusetts College of Art and Design, MCPHS University, Simmons College, Wentworth Institute of Technology and Wheelock College that was designed to give students the best of both worlds: living and studying in a small college setting while enjoying the resources of a large academic environment—all within walking distance.

In all, the Colleges of the Fenway (COF) encompasses more than 12,000 undergraduate students, 700 full-time faculty and 2,300 course offerings.

EMMANUEL.EDU/COF
Our residential 17-acre campus is your new Boston address for the next four years. And while the entire city of Boston is your extended classroom, the Jean Yawkey Center (or the JYC, as students call it) is your extended living room. It is your student center, your dining hall, your gym and fitness center, your hangout...all rolled into one.

It is your place to cheer on the Saints during basketball and volleyball games or to show off your poetry or songwriting skills on open mic nights. Take one look at the number of activities that take place in the sunny, two-story atrium every day and you’ll see why the JYC is the hub of campus activity.

And it all looks out over the quad, your new backyard and the perfect place for a game of Frisbee, a movie night or an outdoor study session.
LIVING ON CAMPUS
There’s a lot to love about living on campus. The bustling streets of Boston outside your window. Easy access to hot meals in the dining hall. Impromptu touch football games on the quad.

So, what do our students like best about living on campus? The opportunity to meet new people, and the convenience of being so close to class with no commute time. Another plus? Living on campus is truly the most affordable way to live while attending college in the city of Boston.

You’ll find everything you need within your residence hall, including kitchen and dining areas, laundry facilities, and lounges equipped with computers, printers and big-screen TVs.

And the food? It's really good. Emmanuel is committed to purchasing fresh, local, seasonal ingredients for our dining hall and cafes. And with deli, grill, pizza, pasta and stir-fry stations, along with a salad bar, vegan, vegetarian and gluten-free options, there’s always something for everyone.

LEARNING ON CAMPUS
Emmanuel College has been educating students for nearly 100 years, and our campus serves as an ever-adapting link between our past and present. The iconic Administration Building represents the balance between tradition and transformation, with its Collegiate Gothic architecture and historic Chapel alongside high-tech classrooms and a recently renovated art department.

Our newest campus building, the Maureen Murphy Wilkens Science Center, boasts 14 state-of-the-art laboratories, multi-purpose classrooms, meeting spaces and common areas, as well as a collaborative energy in which a new generation of students like you can prepare for high-growth professions and graduate study.

Emmanuel is also the only college in the country with a private pharmaceutical research facility right on campus. Merck Research Laboratories–Boston opened in 2004, bringing new academic and scholarship opportunities to the Emmanuel community.
EXPAND YOUR HORIZONS

Academic programs at Emmanuel are driven by our mission and shaped by the Catholic intellectual tradition, helping to create lives rich in meaning, service and purpose. Students can choose from more than 50 majors, minors and areas of study grounded in the liberal arts and sciences and real-world experiences. Our students graduate with analytical, communication and creative skills, and the belief that education is a lifelong pursuit.

We offer a variety of academic opportunities to supplement your coursework, including the Honors Program, membership in national and international honor societies and the option to complete an independent research project to graduate with Distinction in the Field of Concentration. If you’re interested in extending your academic interests outside the classroom, consider our service-learning courses or a faculty-led travel course.

RESEARCH
Emmanuel is a place where countless collaborations between faculty and students happen every day. Dive into advanced research to explore your discipline of choice, working side-by-side with faculty as early as your first year. Such hands-on experiences offer powerful advantages, building upon knowledge gained in the classroom and better preparing you for professional opportunities and graduate-level studies.

SCHOLARSHIPS AND FELLOWSHIPS
Whether you are looking to gain research or teaching experience or to immerse yourself in another language and culture, take your studies to the next level by applying for nationally competitive scholarships and fellowships. Students have earned Emmanuel-funded scholarships to observe schools in Finland, Boren scholarships to study public health in Brazil, Fulbright fellowships to teach English in Latvia and Gilman awards to learn Arabic in Morocco. What will you do?

YOUR SUCCESS PLAN

MAPPING YOUR COLLEGE YEARS AND BEYOND

An Emmanuel College education prepares you for a lifetime of career fulfillment, not simply a job after college. Faculty and professional staff guide students through a four-year planning process starting on day one. Your plan includes:

- Exploring academic interests
- Further developing leadership skills
- Building a résumé through internships, service-learning and involvement
- Broadening your horizons with study abroad, volunteer experiences and spiritual retreats
- Becoming a vital part of the Emmanuel and Boston communities

A HANDS-ON APPROACH
Internships allow you to gain hands-on experience in a professional environment, where you can put theory into practice and apply the skills learned in the classroom within a real-world setting. Here in Boston, Emmanuel College has connections across a broad spectrum, from marketing to financial services, politics to communications, and law enforcement to health care.

Your internship will be a pivotal component of your Emmanuel experience and your journey toward your chosen career or graduate school. Our Career Center will help guide you through the process and provide you with such resources as the HireSaints database, where you can access hundreds of internship, part-time job and full-time job listings.

You bring potential. We offer opportunities. Leadership is not about a title or authority; it's about learning effective communication, building strong relationships and the desire to enact positive change.

Students at Emmanuel are engaged in the life of the College and the city through leadership roles in the Student Government Association, clubs and organizations, service programs and athletics. Current students serve as mentors to their fellow classmates and future students as Orientation Leaders, Resident Assistants, Peer Tutors and Admissions Ambassadors.

Through the Center for Mission Engagement's 1804 Society, a leadership organization named in honor of the founding year of the Sisters of Notre Dame de Namur, students promote service to others and serve as ambassadors of Emmanuel by sharing our mission both on campus and in the community.

Become a global citizen in a culturally diverse and interconnected world. Through international travel, students come to understand the value of dialogue between people of different cultures and different perspectives, skills that are becoming increasingly valuable to employers. Studying abroad lets you pursue a language, a major, a dream. In addition to creating a well-rounded academic experience, studying abroad can give you a greater sense of independence and confidence as well as an understanding of your place in the world.

In partnership with the Colleges of the Fenway’s Global Education Opportunities (GEO) Center, our Office of International Programs offers access to more than 500 study abroad programs in 80 countries all over the world—from a week at spring break to a summer, a semester or a year. Emmanuel faculty also lead travel courses to countries like Italy, France, Ireland, South Africa and India, among others.

Emily Weber ’15

Ask any Emmanuel student what it means to “be a Saint” and he or she will speak to being a part of an active and engaged community. A community that wears its blue and gold proudly. A community that grabs selfies and high-fives with our mascot, Halo the Saint Bernard. A community that has won Best School Spirit on Boston’s A-List for three years running.

It is our diversity of interests that brings us together as a vibrant, dynamic community. Whether your interests are athletic, creative, cultural, political or spiritual, extracurricular activities are an important part of finding your place on campus.

In addition to Emmanuel extracurriculars and activities, the Colleges of the Fenway also offers annual block parties, a consortium-wide orchestra and choir, intramural sports, performing arts and other joint events. It’s city living at its best—hanging out with the neighbors.

FAITH IN ACTION

Many schools care about social justice, but here, it drives us. The Sisters of Notre Dame de Namur, who believe that education is the greatest work on earth, founded Emmanuel College as a Catholic women’s college in 1919. Their mission was clear: Making known God’s goodness…educating for life.

Nearly 100 years later, Emmanuel continues to realize its mission in new ways through a community of people of all faiths. Our Campus Ministry office seeks to help all students find purpose within themselves through focused ministries, educational programs, volunteer service, prayer and Liturgies.

With more than 80 percent of students contributing to a total of more than 30,000 hours of service each year, we challenge ourselves to act, lead and give generously to others. This is a community of possibilities, a force for action.

GET IN THE GAME

Go Saints! We recruit top Division III student-athletes to play on our 16 varsity teams, shaping individual growth with strong athletic competition and high academic standards. We also offer club sports in areas such as baseball, swimming and field hockey to provide a competitive outlet and leadership opportunities for all Emmanuel students.

Through the Colleges of the Fenway Intramurals, the Emmanuel community participates in friendly competition through an array of traditional and non-traditional sports including flag football, softball, dodgeball and 3-on-3 basketball, among others.

Our athletic facilities are top tier. The Jean Yawkey Center houses our state-of-the-art gymnasium, home to our basketball and volleyball programs, and our fully-equipped fitness center. Roberto Clemente Field in the Back Bay Fens, with views of the Boston skyline, serves as the home field for the Saints softball, soccer and lacrosse teams, as well as the practice facility for track and field.

For an applicant to be considered for a merit scholarship, all required items must be received by the appropriate application deadline.

Emmanuel College is now test-optional.

Beginning with the class entering in fall 2015, applicants for admission will not be required to submit standardized test scores (SAT, SAT II and ACT). This policy reinforces the College’s commitment to understanding a student’s overall academic experience, regardless of performance on a single test.

For more information on our test-optional policy, please visit EMMANUEL.EDU/TESTOPTIONAL

INVESTING IN AN EMMANUEL EDUCATION

In this changing economy, a college education has never been more powerful—or valuable. Already, in your high school years, you are competing in a global job market where the dividing line between high school graduate and college graduate is clear. Employers seek individuals who think critically, communicate effectively, work collaboratively and, most importantly, lead boldly. At Emmanuel, you join fellow scholars and dedicated teachers in preparing for a meaningful career. Our students channel their talents in Boston, the dynamic city of Boston. Your Emmanuel experience is one of the world’s premier liberal arts and sciences education. Students transform from the learners and professors of tomorrow into the leaders and professionals of tomorrow. Emmanuel is committed to making this quality private education affordable. We believe that paying for an Emmanuel College education is a shared partnership between the student, his or her family, and the College. Many students receive merit and need-based financial aid. Below are some of the funding options available to Emmanuel students:

- A comprehensive merit scholarship program with scholarships and awards ranging from $2,500 to $25,000
- Emmanuel-funded need-based grants
- Federal and state grants and scholarships
- Federal student loans
- Federal Work Study
- Private scholarships

We will support you and guide you as you explore the many resources available to help you finance your education. For more information, call the Office of Student Financial Services at 617.735.9938 or visit EMMANUEL.EDU/ADMISSIONS
